- superb:极好的, 华丽的, 宏伟的

Exercise 2

in a picturesque setting	roomy and spacious	contemporary
cozy and comfortable	full of mod-cons	superb sea view

Five years from now, I hope that the construction of my dream home will start. I imagine its style to be _____. I don't fancy traditional style because I would like it to be _____. Wouldn't it be a mismatch if the exterior looks old-fashioned and the rooms inside are equipped with advanced creature comforts? Anyway, I would love it to be _____, ideally, by the ocean, because I grew up in a mountainous land and I have just been to a beach three times. If I got lucky enough to afford a house in such a location, I would have a _____. However, I don't want it to be _____ because I plan to stay single for life. What's important is that it's _____.

Section 1

COLLOCATION	MEANING
move in	to start living in a new house. I bought a new house. I'm hoping to move in sometime next month.
move on	to stop one thing and start doing another I've been here for ten years. I want to change my job. It's time for me to move on.
move away	you leave one place to go and live in another I was born in Beijing, but we moved away when I was very young.
move out	you leave forever e.g. your parent's house. When I went to university, I moved out and lived in university accommodation.

Exercise 3

The phrasal verbs are misused in the sentences. Change the wrong prepositions to make it right.

1. Some young people want to _____ of their parents' house because they want to make decisions for themselves.
2. My dream house is already completed, so I can finally anytime I want.
3. I guess, it's time for us to _____. What we have been doing bores me to death.
4. The unlucky families _____ from that city and started living in the nearby city after the calamity.

Section 2

sentence structure

Section 2

It would be located in a stunningly beautiful coastal (沿海) area.

YOUR DREAM HOME...

There would be a lawn (草坪)
and a lot of mature (成熟)
trees.

It would be a two-storey house (一个两层楼的房子) with lots of outbuildings (外屋) for a gym, a library and guest accommodation.

Obviously, it would have a swimming pool. Ideally, I'd love an infinity pool (一个无边泳 池).

Section 2

Some topics are about an imaginary situation so you need to use the second conditional:

If + past simple would + infinitive

If I lived in my dream house,
it...

would be

- a two-storey house.
- located near the coast.
- wouldn't be overly (过于) big.

would have

- an infinity pool.
- a sauna (桑拿浴室).
- a huge lawn (草坪).

would feel

- homely (舒适的).

Section 2

The Second Conditional is also used to talk about 'unreal' or 'impossible' situations.

For example:

- If I were the president of this country, I would shut down all industries violating the laws.
- If I won the lottery, I would quit my job immediately.

Exercise 4

Now, it's your turn to complete the sentences.

- I would buy my mother a house if she _____.
- If I were Donald Trump, I would _____.
- If she was an actress, she would _____.
- _____ If I were very rich.
- If I went to the Moon, _____.
